

Harlem River Greenway

Closing Gaps Along the Bronx Waterfront

A Continuous Greenway in the Bronx

NYC DOT is beginning a planning process to develop a 7-mile Harlem River Greenway in The Bronx, creating a continuous cycling and walking connection between Van Cortlandt Park and Randall's Island Park. The implementation plan will aim to better connect Bronxites to their waterfront and provide a critical north-south bike commuting corridor. Bronxites will help shape the plan through a community-based process, beginning with virtual public workshops this April.

Workshops

Tuesday, April 18th, 6-8PM:

Focus Area: Van Cortlandt Park to University Heights Bridge

Wednesday, April 19th, 6-8PM:

Focus Area: University Heights to Macombs Dam Bridge

Wednesday, April 26th, 6-8PM:

Focus Area: Macombs Dam Bridge to Randall's Island Connector

Register:

Visit nycdotprojects.info/harlem-river-greenway-bronx by scanning the QR code above

Contact:

Holly Malone at 212.748.6680 or hmalone@dot.nyc.gov
To request accessibility accommodations please contact Holly by Thursday, April 13th.

